Deacon's Corner

Some people think the four hardest words in the Gospel are “Thy will be done.” But I think a runner-up, the second four hardest words, comes at the end of today’s Gospel: “Go and do likewise.”

It is a command to live with a level of charity, compassion and mercy that would make most of us a candidate for sainthood. But if we aren’t striving to become saints, what are we striving for? The question posed by that anonymous scholar of the law all those centuries ago continues to challenge us. The answer from Jesus is still hard to accept. But we need to keep reaching, working, sacrificing, praying. Especially praying. In 1968, on the night that Martin Luther King, Jr. was assassinated, Robert F. Kennedy stood on the back of a flatbed truck in Indiana and delivered what many consider one of the greatest speeches of the 20th century. He spoke without notes, without a teleprompter. Part of his remarks, a message of healing and hope, is as timely today as it was 54 years ago. It is a plea for us to act as Samaritans - good Samaritans - in a wounded, battered world, a world desperately in need of healing and mercy. A world that has been robbed of dignity and respect and, like the victim by the side of the road, needs to have its wounds bandaged.

“What we need in the United States,” Kennedy said, “is not division; what we need in the United States is not hatred; what we need in the United States is not violence and lawlessness, but is love, and wisdom, and compassion toward one another, and a feeling of justice toward those who still suffer within our country, whether they be white or whether they be black.” He concluded: “Let’s dedicate ourselves to what the Greeks wrote so many years ago: to tame the savageness of man and make gentle the life of this world. Let us dedicate ourselves to that and say a prayer for our country and for our people.”

Saint Benedict, Abbott. - Feast Day - July 11th

St. Benedict

founded twelve communities for monks about 40 miles east of Rome, before moving to Monte Cassino, in the mountains of southern Italy.

St Benedict's main achievement is his "Rule", containing precepts for his monks.

The unique spirit of balance, moderation and reasonableness influences it and this persuaded most religious communities founded throughout Middle Ages, to adopt it. As a result, the Rule of St Benedict became one of the most influential religious rules in western Christendom. For this reason, Benedict is often called the "founder" of western Christian Monasticism.

Disciples flocked to him as his reputation for holiness, wisdom and miracles spread far and wide. It wasn't long and he organized his monks into a single monastic community and wrote his official Rule, prescribing common sense, a life of moderate asceticism, prayer, study, work and community under one superior. It stressed obedience, stability, zeal and had the Divine Office as the centre of monastic life. While ruling his monks, most of whom – including Benedict, were not ordained, he counselled rulers and Popes and ministered to the poor and destitute. He died at Monte Cassino on 21 March 547 and was named patron protector of Europe by Pope Paul VI in 1964. The Universal Church celebrates his feast day today.

Archbishop's Annual Appeal

It is not too late to give to the 2022 Archbishop's Annual Appeal!! It is only with YOUR help that we will be able to achieve the Annual Appeal goal of $10 Million! This year's Appeal goal may be a challenge – but it is nothing compared to the challenge many suffer with each and every day of their lives.

The Archbishop's Annual Appeal helps provide the critical funding needed to feed the hungry, shelter the homeless, counsel those in despair, offer much-needed assistance to the unemployed, and make medical care available to those without health insurance.

Your gift to the 2022 Appeal will help to continue these and other vital ministries, services, and programs that reach out to so many in need.
